M.A. European, Russian and Eurasian Studies

Academic Regulations

See the General Regulations (<http://www.carleton.ca/calendars/2012-13/grad/gradregulations>) section of this Calendar.

Master's candidates must obtain a grade of B- or higher on each credit counted towards the degree.

Admission Requirements

The normal requirement for admission to the master's program is an honours degree (or equivalent), with at least a B+ average.

For admission to the program, applicants should normally meet the following requirements:

A B.A. Honours degree (or equivalent) in a humanities or social science discipline, with at least 3.0 credits in the European/Russian/Eurasian area covering three different disciplines (excluding language courses); and

A reading knowledge of an appropriate major European language (normally equivalent to two academic years of instruction, or one year with an intensive summer program) or, at the discretion of the Institute, equivalent knowledge of another of the region's languages. Applicants admitted with no proficiency or inadequate proficiency in an appropriate language will require additional language training beyond normal M.A. requirements.

Practical experience in the area of study will also be taken into consideration.

Applicants who do not have the required interdisciplinary background in the European/Russian/Eurasian area are encouraged to apply to the program, but additional coursework beyond the 5.0 credits may be required.

Qualifying Year

Applicants who have a general (three-year) bachelor's degree in one of the disciplines represented in the program, or who lack sufficient area studies or language training, may be admitted to a qualifying-year program designed to raise their status to that of honours graduates in European, Russian and Eurasian Studies. Students are expected to achieve a B+ average or better in the qualifying-year program in order to qualify for admission to the Master's year.

Program Requirements

Students in the program must complete 5.0 credits, consisting of the following:

1. 0.5 credit in:

EURR 5001 [0.5] Interdisciplinary Seminar in European and Russian Studies

Core seminar offered specially by the Institute. The Course incorporates the approaches of several relevant disciplines and introduces students to a variety of methodological approaches and tools needed to design and implement research projects.

2. Selection of a concentration (either Russian, Eurasian and Transition Studies or European and European Union Studies), with 1.0 credit of course work from the concentration course list provided below under the description of each concentration

3. 0.5 credit from:

EURR 5200 [0.5] Interdisciplinary Seminar on Russian, Eurasian and Transition Studies (recommended for students selecting the Russian, Eurasian and Transition Studies concentration)

EURR 5300 [0.5] Interdisciplinary Seminar on European and European Union Studies (recommended for students selecting the European and European Union Studies concentration)

4. 1.0 credit in course work chosen with the approval of the graduate supervisor from the electives course list below;

5. One from the following:

EURR 5908 [1.0] Research Essay (a research essay related to the concentration, incorporating the approaches of at least two disciplines represented in the program; the research essay must be defended orally and combined with an additional 1.0 credit coursework chosen with the approval of the graduate supervisor from the electives course list below)<sup>4</sup>

EURR 5909 [2.0] M.A. Thesis (an M.A. thesis on a topic related to the concentration, which must combine interdisciplinary approaches with a greater degree of originality and a greater use of primary sources than that required of the research essay. The thesis must be defended orally. The thesis option cannot be taken without the specific permission of the graduate supervisor.)<sup>5</sup>

6. Completion of the language requirement:

Each student must demonstrate language proficiency. Students entering the M.A. program with no language proficiency or inadequate language proficiency will require extra coursework and/or summer language training to meet the language proficiency requirement.

For the Russian, Eurasian and Transition Studies concentration the student may select German, Polish, Russian, Ukrainian or Serbian/Croatian. For the European and European Union Studies concentration the student may select French, German, Italian, Polish or Spanish. A student may request permission to use another major language to fulfill this requirement. However, the requested language

(a) must be utilized in undertaking research for the research essay or M.A. thesis; and

(b) its selection must be approved by the graduate supervisor.

Proficiency in the approved language may be demonstrated by successful completion of a written translation examination to be administered by the Institute or by completion of the appropriate language from the following list with a minimum grade of B+:

or

or

1.0 credit in FREN at the 4000-level.

Notes:

1. No more than 1.0 credit may be taken at the 4000-level.
2. No more than 0.5 credit in a language discipline may be counted towards program requirements. If a student fulfills the language proficiency requirement by completing course work as outlined in point 2 below, 0.5 credit of a 4000-level course completed to fulfill that requirement may also count towards fulfillment of program requirements, so long as no more than 1.0 credit is taken at the 4000-level overall.

Guidelines for Completion of Master's Degree

Students in the 5.0-credit program with sufficient proficiency in Russian, German or another approved language are expected to complete the degree within three to four terms of study. Students participating in international exchanges will normally require longer to complete degree requirements.

Concentrations

While one of the program's goals is to provide students with an integrative approach to the entire region, the concentration assures that each student's individual program will retain a particular focus. Europe and Eurasia have become increasingly integrated in terms of theoretical and methodological approaches. However, the two sub-regions covered by the program have distinct histories and legacies along with differing intellectual traditions. Selection of a concentration assures that each student's program will have an adequate level of intellectual coherence. Students studying the post-communist countries of Central and Eastern Europe that are EU member states or candidates for membership may select either concentration, depending on the thematic focus of the student's work.

The Institute offers two concentrations that draw systematically from the program's range of courses and expertise. Students are required to pursue one of these concentrations:

- Russian, Eurasian and Transition Studies
- European and European Union (EU) Studies

Russian, Eurasian and Transition Studies

This concentration involves an interdisciplinary focus on the communist legacy and challenges facing countries in transition, with a geographic scope covering eastern and southeastern Europe, Russia, Ukraine, Belarus, the Caucasus and post-Soviet Central Asia.

It is recommended that students pursuing this concentration complete EURL 5200 rather than EURL 5300.

Concentration course elective list:

Admission Requirements

Students interested in admission into the co-op education option must apply by the end of the first semester of academic study.

To be eligible for admission to the co-op option, students must:

1. be registered in the M.A. in European, Russian and Eurasian Studies;
2. have successfully completed, by the start-date of the first work term, the required first-year core classes
3. EURL 5001 [0.5] Interdisciplinary Seminar in European and Russian Studies
EURL 5200 [0.5] Interdisciplinary Seminar on Russian, Eurasian and Transition Studies or EURL 5300 [0.5] Interdisciplinary Seminar on European and European Union Studies
4. be registered full-time in each academic term prior to work term.
5. be eligible to work in Canada (for off-campus work terms).

In addition, students whose first language is not English who are admitted to Carleton based on CAEL, IELTS or TOEFL assessments must also meet the following requirement: either a score of 6.0 on the CAEL Spoken English Test for Co-op students, or a score of 22 on the TOEFL test for spoken English, or a score of 6.5 on the IELTS test for spoken English.

Meeting the preceding requirements only establishes eligibility for admission to the co-op option - the prevailing job market may limit enrollment in it. Students should also note that hiring priority is given to Canadian citizens for co-op positions under the auspices of the Public Service Commission. Work terms for European, Russian and Eurasian Studies co-op students exist in a variety of public and private sector fields. Every effort will be made to ensure that there are appropriate work opportunities available, but there are no assurances that a co-op position will be found. Students with a high CGPA, enthusiasm, and potential, however, will have a competitive edge in securing co-op employment. Students will be assisted by the Carleton University Co-op Office to find work term positions.

Continuation

Students admitted to the co-op program will begin their first work term at the end of Year 1 and will rotate between academic and work terms through to the end of their program. Students must include two work terms in their program of study and may choose any combination of work terms.

The sequence of academic (A) / work (W) terms is as follows:

Calendar Year 1

- Fall Term: A
- Winter Term: A
- Summer Term: W1

Calendar Year 2

- Fall Term: W2 or A
- Winter Term: W3 or A
- Summer Term: A

Calendar Year 3

- Fall Term: A

Note: students are permitted to enroll in one 0.5 credit course during each work term.

Registration

Students who are accepted into the Co-op Education Option in European, Russian and Eurasian Studies must be registered in EURL 5913 [0.0] Co-operative Work Term in each work term.

Note:

this course does not carry academic course credit, but is noted on academic transcripts.

Graduation

Students must successfully complete two work terms, in addition to the M.A. in European, Russian and Eurasian Studies requirements, to successfully graduate and receive a co-op designation on their final transcript and diploma.

Appeals

The Co-op Office administers the regulations and procedures applicable to the co-op option, and will report any situation of a student failing to report to a placement or being required to withdraw from the co-op option for any reason to the Director of the Institute of European, Russian and Eurasian Studies for a final decision. Any decision may be appealed through the normal channels of the University.

Diploma in European Integration Studies

About the Program

This diploma program is only open to students currently enrolled in a graduate degree program at Carleton University and is intended to provide an additional qualification to the student's main degree. Applications to the program should be made to the Institute of European, Russian and Eurasian Studies. Some previous coursework or practical experience in the field of European Studies is a prerequisite for admission to the program. The purpose of the diploma program is to supplement the student's program of study by providing in-depth study of processes of European integration from an interdisciplinary perspective and thus to prepare the student for professional work or further study in this field.

Academic Regulations

See the General Regulations (<http://www.carleton.ca/calendars/2012-13/grad/gradregulations>) section of this Calendar.

Program Requirements

Students must complete 2.5 credits of coursework and take part in a non-credit seminar EURL 5809.

Of the 2.5 credits required for the diploma, 1.0 credit must be unique to the diploma program and may not be counted toward meeting requirements for the student's main degree program. The unique diploma courses must include EURR 5003 and one additional course on the primary option list.

In addition to English, the student must demonstrate proficiency in a second European language (approved languages are subject to the discretion of the Institute), as certified by a language examination.

Up to 0.5 course credits towards the Diploma may be taken at another university, subject to the approval of the Director and the Faculty of Graduate Studies. In order to gain approval, such course work must be completed at a level equivalent to the 5000-level and its content must be relevant to the Diploma program.

In order to be awarded the Diploma, students must apply to graduate with the Diploma at the same time as they apply to graduate with their M.A. or Ph.D.
